

FIND AN ARTIST

FREE SAMPLER CD

Sign Up Here!

News

John the Revelator Charts On Billboard's Classical Crossover List 05/11/09

Having been WNYC's Soundcheck Pick of the Week and a featured profile in the New York Observer, John the Revelator and Phil Kline have touched a chord (pardon the pun) with classical audiences, generating a following that helped the album chart last week at #19 on Billboard's classical crossover list.

There's reason for continued optimism regarding the album's success - currently available as a digital download or through the Bang on a Can Store, John the Revelator will become more widely available when it receives a physical release in stores later this May. Additionally, the choral mass will also be featured at this year's Bang on a Can Marathon. See you then.

To listen to "The Man Who Knows Misery," a track from John the Revelator, click here. For more releases by Phil Kline, be sure to check out:

- Phil's arrangement of Handel's Messiah on Messiah Remix
- Zippo Songs, a series of pieces inspired American Vietnam veterans' poetry

As always, both are available as digital downloads (from iTunes, eMusic, and/or Amazon) or through the Bang on a Can Store.

More about Phil Kline